

Summer 2012 www.klimmek-henderson.com

Welcome to our first newsletter ever! We plan to send out an issue every quarter, or to highlight special events , but we promise not to overwhelm you with mail. We aim to tell you about the workshop - interesting work on hand and direct you to items /articles that we think are interesting . We also plan to offer some hints and tips from the people in the workshop so they could be on anything from furniture to finance to motor maintenance..wait and see!

Cloud Cabinet - Storage Cabinets in Ash & Cherry with engraved Cloud pattern wrapping around the exterior.

Inspired by the open skies by the sea in Wexford where we get amazing sunsets and stormy vistas - these cabinets were designed by Knut to provide plenty of storage, some mood lighting and also to be a bit different.

The technical difficulties presented by the design were tackled by Andrew Dalton our Senior Maker. There was a fair amount of head-scratching and thinking before the most efficient method of achieving the wrapped engraving was finally developed and agreed. Andrew put a lot of hours and attention into crafting and decorating the cabinets They are now in their new home in North Dublin. Our clients (who we really want to thank for allowing us to feature the cabinets from design to delivery on our facebook page) are delighted with the pieces and they are now in daily use.

Night Horizon - Writing beureau in Oak & Maple with an Aluminium inlay

A continuation on from the success of the Cloud Cabinets, the Night Horizon depicts the silvery silhouette of a cloudy dark night. Designed by Knut, the cabinet provides storage space as well as a writing surface.

Nigel Henderson, one of our senior makers, tackled the manufacture of this cabinet. The making process was made a bit easier by the aluminium inlay and the grooves to receive it being cut by a CNC machine. The cabinet is on display in the Greenacres Art Gallery in Wexford.

Anvil Bench

The Anvil Bench - Carved from a single log of Native Oak- it is sculptural and functional at the same time. The Base is charred (using an industrial blowtorch) to blacken and protect it. This piece is being exhibited in the Spring Show in Greenacres Gallery in Wexford town which runs for another couple of weeks. www.greenacres.ie

Greenacres Spring Show

Klimmek & Henderson were part of a select group of artists and craftsmen to take part in an exhibition in the Greenacres Art Gallery in Wexford.

Works on display included the Night Horizon cabinet, the Anvil Bench, the Springkell Chair to name a few. We really want to thank the people of Greenacres for organising such a great event.
